o.k. That's helpful to know. We are calling all of our experts at trial. What I said was there are currently four that are experts, and two (Jacobson & Schmitt) that are both expert and fact witnesses. What we don't know yet is whether Bruce Koenig would be necessary or not.

Lisa -- I have a few things to follow-up on from your letter but should be able to talk a little later this afternoon. I will call you.

I do want to make it clear, as Kathy Meyer represented in open Court before Judge Sullivan at our last status conference, that plaintiffs' current intent is to call all eight of their expert witnesses at trial. You represented during that same status conference that defendant intends to call only four experts at trial. We would appreciate it if you would inform us, which four experts defendant intends to use at trial since that obviously impacts the depositions we are taking. Thank you.
