Former Ringling Brothers Circus Employee Speaks Out Against Animal Cruelty

www.idausa.org

MILL VALLEY, Calif. - In Defense of Animals, a national animal protection organization, is pleased to announce that it is sponsoring the work of Tom Rider, a former Ringling Bros. Circus and Clyde Beatty Cole Circus elephant caregiver. After witnessing what he describes as the ³daily systematic abuse of animals² and resigning in frustration, Tom has now devoted his life to speaking out against the animal cruelty that takes place at ³The

Show on Earth² and in other circuses that use animals.

IDA is covering all of Rider's expenses as he follows Ringling Bros. across the country in a Greyhound bus, conducting press conferences before circus performances and providing his first-hand knowledge of the rampant mistreatment of animals at Ringling Bros.

Mr. Rider worked for two and a half years as an elephant caregiver for Ringling Bros. and is an exceptionally credible and powerful voice in countering the circus's false claims about humane treatment of animals. Ringling Bros. has been cited several times for not complying with the USDA's minimal animal welfare standards, and numerous animals traveling with the circus have died prematurely, including two elephants in the past three years.

According to IDA President Elliot M. Katz, DVM, ³IDA is proud to provide Mr. Rider with the resources to allow him to educate the public about Ringling's abysmal treatment of animals. Thanks to his firsthand experience witnessing the horrific cruelties that animals in the circus suffer on a daily basis, he is a powerful advocate for the elephants and other animals imprisoned and abused under the guise of Oentertainment.¹²

If you would be interested in having Mr. Rider attend a media event or speak to a group in your community, please contact him at 917.930.5621. If you are interested in working with your local community to ban circuses using animals in your area as other cities have done, please contact In Defense of Animals at 415.388.9641.
